

May 9, 2017
SAMHSA MAI CoC Webinar
Retention in Care 1: Best Practices of Cultural Competency for Persons Living with HIV/AIDS (PLWH), Persons in Recovery and People at Risk

Cindy A. Crusto, Ph.D.
Associate Professor of Psychiatry
Assistant Chair for Diversity, Department of Psychiatry
Director, Program Evaluation and Child Trauma Research at The Consultation Center
Yale University
New Haven, CT

Cindy A. Crusto, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Psychiatry (Psychology Section), Yale University School of Medicine and Assistant Chair for Diversity in the Department of Psychiatry, is the Director of Program Evaluation and Child Trauma Research at The Consultation Center. Dr. Crusto has more than 15 years of experience in developing, implementing, and evaluating preventive interventions in schools and community agencies. She also has extensive experience providing training and technical assistance to schools and to community-based organizations on the evaluation of prevention programs. She is interested in culturally relevant interventions for children from racial/ethnic minority and low-income backgrounds and in school-based behavioral health services. Dr. Crusto's research examines the impact of family violence on children and the ecological influences on child and family well-being, and includes rigorous evaluations of community-based initiatives involving substance use and violence prevention, and the promotion of school readiness.

Dr. Crusto earned a B.A. in psychology from Vassar College, an M.A. in clinical-community psychology from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, and a Ph.D. in clinical-community psychology from the University of South Carolina. She completed pre-doctoral and postdoctoral fellowships in clinical-community psychology at Yale University School of Medicine, Department of Psychiatry.

David Salinas, M.P.H.
Program Manager/Grant Writer
Sunrise Community Center
Los Angeles, CA

David Salinas holds a Bachelor of Arts in Biology and in Spanish Literature from the University of Colorado at Boulder and a Master of Public Health with a concentration in Community and Behavioral Health from the University of Colorado at Denver. He has over 15 years of clinical and social research experience which includes implementing local and statewide needs assessments focusing on HIV prevention, treatment, and care; sexual health education in schools; mental health and substance misuse service's needs; and evaluation of health services gaps. He has worked in several different research settings and has deep experience with diverse populations including substance abusing adolescents and young adults, teenage mothers and HIV-positive patients. He's currently a Program Manager at Sunrise Community Counseling Center in Los Angeles, California.